For organizations without a legal staff, Arocho Law Office (ALO) can provide you with the ability to outsource your day-to-day legal needs. These services are tailored to meet and fit your specific organization's needs.

ALO will develop in-depth familiarity with your operations including legal needs. As a result, your organization benefits from having a lawyer to which it can turn for its day-to-day legal issues without worrying about hourly fees. ALO can handle a plethora of typical legal matters for your group including drafting and review of contracts, employment policies, corporate governance matters, regulatory compliance, real estate matters, management of your intellectual property portfolio, and directing the work of other outside lawyers.

With ALO as part of your team you will benefit from the efficiency and strategic guidance of a lawyer without paying premium law firm fees. ALO's fee structures are designed to work within your budget and needs.

ALO's services can include on-site work at the your office and attendance at board meeting!

Arocho Law Office wants to be part of your team. Let this office be your legal partner and trusted advisor!
